

Admissions, Enrollment, and Graduation Trends in Vocational Nursing Programs

2019

This update presents data for the 85¹ vocational nursing (VN) programs and the military-based VN program¹ in Texas during the 2019 reporting year, including:

- 79 generic programs
- 6 Multiple Entry/Exit Programs (MEEPs)

The Texas Center for Nursing Workforce Studies (TCNWS) collected data using the 2019 Board of Nursing's (BON) Nursing Education Program Information Survey (NEPIS) that was available online as of September 30, 2019. The reporting period was academic year (AY) 2018-2019 (September 1, 2018 – August 31, 2019) unless otherwise noted. TCNWS collaborated with the BON in the design and dissemination of the survey.

¹Data collected from the military-based VN program were analyzed separately and can be found on page 5.

Qualified Applications to Vocational Nursing Programs

Table 1 lists data on qualified applications² and admissions to VN programs from 2010 through 2019.

- Seats for new students^{3,4} decreased by 4.4% between 2018 and 2019.
- Qualified applications were those that met all criteria for admission based on the standards set by individual programs.
 - There were 8,240 qualified applications in 2019, a decrease of 2.3% from 2018.⁵
 - Of the qualified applications, admission was offered to 6,819, or 82.8%.
- The number of qualified applications not offered admission (QANA) increased by 11.4% from 2018 to 2019.
- 44 programs accepted all qualified applications, 3 fewer than in 2018.

The 44 programs that did not accept all qualified applications were asked to rank the reasons why qualified applications were not offered admission in order of importance (42 programs responded to this question).

- Lack of clinical space was ranked as the first or second most important reason for not offering admission to all qualified applications by 23 programs (54.8% of 42 responding programs).
 - Programs that ranked lack of clinical space first or second cited reasons such as preference given to professional nursing students (17 programs) and lack of clinical availability in certain locations or settings (10 programs).

2019	7,165	8,240	6,819	1,421 (11.4%)

- Limited classroom space was ranked first or second in importance for not offering admission to all qualified applications by 19 programs (45.2%).
- Lack of qualified faculty applicants was ranked first or second by 15 programs (35.7%) and lack of budgeted faculty positions was ranked first or second by 13 programs (31.0%).
- Other reasons programs cited for not offering qualified applications admission included students failing to meet requirements to enroll (7 programs).

²Qualified applications refer to applications submitted, not individual applicants, since candidates for admission may apply to more than one nursing program.

³In previous reports seats for new students was reported as enrollment capacity.

⁴Per the survey operational definition, seats for new students refers to the maximum number of seats for new students that a program can enroll in any given admission period. Seats for new students may be limited by Board of Nursing rules or logistical concerns (faculty size, classroom space, etc.).

⁵Candidates for admission may apply and be accepted by more than one nursing program; therefore, these data may represent some duplicated counts of individuals.

Newly Enrolled Students in Vocational Nursing Programs

Figure 1 and Table 2 show the yearly change in the number of newly enrolled students from 2010 to 2019. Newly enrolled students are those who were offered admission and decided to register and enroll in the program.

- From 2018 to 2019, the number of newly enrolled students decreased by 5.7%, from 5,991 to 5,650.

- With the exception of 2014 and 2017, VN enrollment has decreased since 2011.
- Since 2010, there was an overall decrease of 28.1% in the number of newly enrolled VN students.

- 32.6% of students were enrolled in for profit or other institutions, even though these programs represented only 16.5% of VN programs.⁸

⁷Multiple Entry-Exit Program is an approved exit option which is a part of a professional nursing education program designed for students to complete course work and apply to take the NCLEX-PN® examination after they have successfully met all requirements needed for the examination.

⁸The military-based program was not included in this analysis.

Barriers to Increasing Graduates

Programs were asked to list barriers that they faced in increasing VN graduates in AY 2018-2019. 60 programs identified having barriers to increasing the number of graduates.⁹ Some of these barriers included:

- Only 3.5% perceived that it was difficult for their graduates to find jobs. None of the VN programs selected that it was very difficult for their graduates to find jobs.
- Programs whose graduates had difficulty finding jobs listed reasons such as employers preferring experienced nurses or registered nurses (2 programs) and limited opportunities for VNs in acute care or hospital settings (9 programs).
