

Abrysvo Vaccine Available August 1
Texas Vaccines for Children (TVFC) program providers,

Beginning August 1, 2024, RSVpreF (Abrysvo™) vaccine will be available in the Vaccine Allocation and Ordering System (VAOS).

Manufacturer	NDC	Brand, if available	Description
Pfizer	00069-0344-01	Abrysvo™ (0.5ml)	one pack – single-dose vial

Recommendations for Use of Abrysvo™ Vaccine

Abrysvo™ is recommended for active immunization of pregnant women during weeks 32 through 36 of pregnancy using seasonal administration (September 1 through January 31) to prevent lower respiratory tract infection (LRTI) caused by RSV in infants from birth through six months. One 0.5 mL dose should be administered intramuscularly (preferably deltoid region of the upper arm).

If administration is prior to September or after January, it will constitute an administration error. Vaccine administration error must be reported to the Vaccine Adverse Event Reporting System (VAERS).

Any unused doses after January 31, 2025, must be stored until the following RSV season.

Maternal RSV Vaccine TVFC Program Eligibility

Pregnant women 18 years and younger who meet one of the following eligibility criteria may receive TVFC vaccines:

- Enrolled in Medicaid or Medicaid-eligible
- Uninsured
- Underinsured
  - Health insurance coverage does not include vaccines
  - Health insurance covers only selected vaccines
  - Health insurance sets a fixed dollar limit or cap on vaccine coverage.
- American Indian or Alaska Native
- Enrolled in the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP)
